

The Prevent Duty Policy

Rainbow Preschool Southampton limited has regard for the Prevent Duty 2015.

Policy Statement

From 1 July 2015 all registered Early Years childcare providers are subject to a duty under section 26 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act 2015, in the exercise of their functions, to have "due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism". This duty is known as the Prevent Duty. It applies to a wide range of public-facing bodies.

What is Radicalisation?

Radicalisation refers to the process by which a person comes to support terrorism and forms of extremism. Protecting children from the risk of radicalisation is seen as part of Rainbow Preschool Southampton Limited's wider safeguarding duties, and is similar in nature to protecting children from other forms of harm and abuse. During the process of radicalisation it is possible to intervene to prevent vulnerable people being radicalised. There is no single way of identifying an individual who is likely to be susceptible to an extremist ideology. It can happen in many different ways and settings.

Specific background factors may contribute to vulnerability which are often combined with specific influences such as family, friends or online, and with specific needs for which an extremist or terrorist group may appear to provide an answer.

The internet and the use of social media in particular has become a major factor in the radicalisation of young people.

What is Extremism?

Extremism is vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs. We also include in our definition of extremism calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in this country or overseas.

Constant Practice and Procedure

At Rainbow Preschool Southampton Limited it is essential that staff are able to identify children who may be vulnerable to radicalisation, and know what to do when they are identified. Protecting children from the risk of radicalisation should be seen as part of schools' and childcare providers' wider safeguarding duties, and is similar in nature to protecting children from other harms (e.g. drugs, gangs, neglect, sexual exploitation), whether these come from within their family or are the product of outside influences.

We can also build children's resilience to radicalisation by promoting fundamental British values and enabling them to challenge extremist views.

In the pre-school we can emphasise this in daily work such as supporting the children's personal, social and emotional development and understanding of the world.

Risk Assessment

Rainbow Pre-school Southampton Ltd is a company registered in England & Wales. Registration No: 10058477. Registered Office: Unit 4, Basepoint, Andersons Rd, Southampton. SO14 5FE.

All the pre-school staff, particularly the staff who work directly with the children are expected to assess the risk of children being drawn into terrorism, including support for extremist ideas that are part of terrorist ideology. This means being able to demonstrate both a general understanding of the risks affecting children and young people in the area and a specific understanding of how to identify individual children who may be at risk of radicalisation and what to do to support them. As with managing other safeguarding risks, staff should be alert to changes in children's behaviour which could indicate that they may be in need of help or protection. Staff should use their professional judgement in identifying children who might be at risk of radicalisation and act appropriately which may include making a referral to the Channel program.

Procedure for reporting concerns

If a member of staff in our pre-school has a concern about a particular child they should follow the pre-school's normal safeguarding procedures, including discussing with the designated safeguarding lead, who will, where deemed necessary, liaise with children's social care. Staff can also contact the local police force or dial 101 (the non-emergency number). They can talk in confidence about concerns and help us to gain access to support and advice. Also, they can advise if this would be a case for the Channel program. The Department for Education has a dedicated telephone helpline (020 7340 7264) to enable staff and Directors to raise concerns relating to extremism directly. Concerns can also be raised by email to counter.extremism@education.gsi.gov.uk. Concerns will also be reported to Ofsted and the LADO immediately.

Channel

Channel is a programme which focuses on providing support at an early stage to people who are identified as being vulnerable to being drawn into terrorism. It provides a mechanism for schools to make referrals if they are concerned that an individual might be vulnerable to radicalisation. An individual's engagement with the programme is entirely voluntary at all stages. Section 36 of the Counter-Terrorism and Security Act (2015) places a duty on local authorities to ensure Channel panels are in place. The panel must be chaired by the local authority and include the police for the relevant local authority area. Following a referral, the panel will assess the extent to which identified individuals are vulnerable to being drawn into terrorism, and, where considered appropriate and necessary consent is obtained, arrange for support to be provided to those individuals.

Channel is available at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/channel-guidance>

This policy was prepared using the following publications;

DFE The Prevent Duty. Departmental advice for schools and childcare providers, June 2015.

DFE Keeping children safe in schools, July 2015.

HM Gov. Channel Guidance - Preventing vulnerable people from being drawn into terrorism.

This policy was adopted at a meeting at Rainbow Pre-school in February 2020

Signed on behalf of Rainbow Pre-school:

.....
.....
.....

Policy review date: February 2021